A UNITING VOICE FOR CENTRAL IOWA SIGNATORY CONTRACTORS

DES MOINES CONSTRUCTION COUNCIL

The Des Moines Construction Council (DMCC) has had a presence in central Iowa for many years, representing both general contractors and some specialty contractors who are signatory to many of the local trades. In its traditional role, the DMCC has been mainly focused on contract administration, negotiations, labor relations, and at times, sound legal advice.

With the landscape for the signatory contractor having changed tremendously over the years, the need for education, advocacy and networking remains strong. Be it regulatory aspects related to multiemployer pension funds; to unpredictable market fluctuations; or to working with unions to address recruiting and staffing, central Iowa's signatory contractors must cope with a unique set of challenges.

DMCC sees a growing need for signatory contractors, regardless of their trade classification, to have an outlet to share information and learn more about the challenges of managing not only collective bargaining agreements, but also the many aspects that union contractors face. Though the trades are different, there is a commonality amongst signatory contractors that DMCC hopes to serve. This is why DMCC wants to expand its role in how to best serve union contractors in central Iowa by asking your firm to join this association.

As a member of DMCC, your firm will be part of an organization that is focused on the exchange of ideas and information, while also making available networking and social programs amongst signatory contractors. This is the value in becoming a member of the Des Moines Construction Council.

Central Iowa is fortunate to have many strong trade organizations administering collective bargaining agreements and in no way will your membership to DMCC change that relationship.
